

Claims

1. A crutch comprising:

5 a support rod, a lower part between a lower end and a predetermined point below a mid point of the support rod is bent to a large radius and an upper part between the predetermined point and an upper end of the support rod is bent to a smaller radius;

a cross-pad mounted on the upper end of the support rod;

a hand piece positioned at the mid point of the support rod; and

10 a cap for preventing the crutch from skidding mounted on a lower end of the support rod.